

INDIANAPOLIS WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

ONLY DAUGHTER OF STATE SENATOR WILLIAM E. ENGLISH IS KILLED WHEN AUTO DRIVEN BY TERRE HAUTE MAN, PLUNGES OVER STEEP EMBANKMENT ON NATIONAL ROAD, NEAR STATE FARM—COMPANION ESCAPES INJURY

Mrs. Rosalind Parsons, age 21, wife of Stewart W. Parsons, and only daughter of State Senator William E. English of Indianapolis, was killed at near 4:30 o'clock, Monday afternoon, when the automobile in which she and Kenneth Hurtt, age 20, of Terre Haute, went off the National road and turned over, near the State Farm.

Mrs. Parsons suffered a crushed skull and was dead when taken out of the wrecked car. Her companion, who was driving the car at the time of the accident, was thrown clear of the car as it turned over and was not badly injured.

According to Mr. Hurtt, Mrs. Parsons and himself were going to Indianapolis from Terre Haute where she had been visiting his family.

He states that for some unaccountable reason, he lost control of the automobile, a large touring car, owned by Captain English, and that it suddenly went off the road, and down a steep bank landing on its side and then turning over.

Mr. Hurtt was thrown from the car as it turned over but Mrs. Parsons was caught in the wreckage and her skull was crushed. The accident occurred on the north side of the National road, just east of where the penal farm switch crosses the road.

Superintendent Howard attracted by the accident, took a number of farm officers and penal farm officers and got the body of Mrs. Parsons from the wreckage. The body was brought to the McCurry Undertaking home, here, and later, accompanied by the secretary to Mr. William English, who was called to Greencastle was taken to Indianapolis.

It is said that Mrs. Parsons had pending a divorce suit and that the young man who was with her at the time of the accident, expected to marry her as soon as she was granted a divorce. Mr. Hurtt came to Greencastle with the body and made a statement regarding the accident to Coroner McCurry before leaving with the body for Indianapolis.

Persons who saw the wrecked machine state that it is nothing but a mass of wreckage. A more demolished car could not be imagined, they say.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 23.—Rosalind Orr English Parsons was born in Indianapolis, March 10, 1903, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Easton English. Her father has been prominent for many years in the political and business life of Indianapolis and Indiana and has been a member of the state Legislature for several terms.

Mrs. Parsons was an attorney of the Indianapolis bar and recently had taken an active part in Republican politics in Marion county and in the state. During the recent campaign she was connected with the Republican state committee, aiding in the organization of Republican clubs among students at Indiana colleges. She had been active also in the campaigns of her father for election as joint state senator from Marion and Johnson counties.

Member of Bar

She was admitted to the practice of law in Marion county, March 12, this year, on motion of her father and a few days later was admitted to practice before the Indiana Supreme court.

She engaged in the practice of law with her father in offices in the Hotel English building on Monument circle.

Mrs. Parsons obtained her elementary education in the public schools of Indianapolis, later attending Tudor Hall in this city. Other schools where her education was furthered were Ferry Hall in Chicago and St. Mary-of-the-Woods at Terre Haute, Ind. She attended the Benjamin Harrison law school in this city also.

She was married April 2, 1919 to Stewart W. Parsons. Mr. Parsons was in New York at the time of the death. Mrs. Parsons had a suit filed for divorce on Nov. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. English were at English, Park in Spencer county, where Senator English has been recuperating from a long illness, when the accident occurred. They were notified and came to Indianapolis last night.

Alpha B. Hanson, special secretary to William English, left immediately for Greencastle after learning of the accident.

DIVORCE GRANTED YESTERDAY

Hurt Charged With Nonsupport—Was Musician Playing Here
TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Dec. 22.—Kenneth C. Hurtt, with whom Mrs. Rosalind Parsons was riding when she was killed in an automobile accident near Greencastle this evening, was divorced by his wife, Mrs. Mae Hurtt in the Vigo Circuit court here today.

Friends of Mr. Hurtt said that Hurtt and Mrs. Parsons had become acquainted while Hurtt was working as a musician in Indianapolis during the summer and fall. He played there at Casino Gardens.

Hurtt has been playing the saxophone with Bud Cromwell's serenaders, an orchestra playing at the Orpheum dance hall here. He was not in court when his wife's divorce complaint was heard today, but was represented by an attorney. Mrs. Hurtt charged non support. Mr. Hurtt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hurtt, live at 933 South Fourth street.

THE JOY RIDE MYSTERY IS AT LAST SOLVED

GREENCASTLE YOUTH IS RESPONSIBLE FOR DISAPPEARANCE OF SEVERAL AUTOMOBILES DURING PAST FEW WEEKS—CARS ALWAYS RETURNED TO NEAR WHERE THEY HAD BEEN TAKEN FROM

The mystery surrounding the "borrowing" of at least seven automobiles in the past few weeks, has at last been solved. In each instance the automobile was found only a short distance from the place where it was taken. In one instance the same automobile was taken on two different occasions.

A few nights ago a Greencastle citizen heard someone attempting to start an automobile. Evidently the person attempting to start it was not acquainted with the starting device as the continual noise indicated that he had not turned on the ignition but was simply "stepping" on the starter. Imagine the man's surprise when he looked for his car and saw that it was gone. He ran down the street to where the person was attempting to start the car and discovered that it was his own car that was being "worked" on.

The young man was so engrossed with his endeavors to "get 'er started" that he did not notice the approach of the owner until it was too late. The lad, for he is nothing more than a lad, had pushed the car some distance from where it had been left by the owner, before attempting to start it.

From the lad it was learned that his previous joy rides had been taken in Ford cars and that he was not familiar with the cars of other makes. So the difficulty in getting the last one started.

The owner of the car took the lad in hand and it is safe to say that his days of joy riding in borrowed cars is at an end.

WHITE CHRISTMAS FOR GREENCASTLE, FORECAST

The weatherman's Christmas gift for Greencastle will be a "white" Christmas, if he is able to make good his prediction. And he thinks he can.

Nearly three fourths of an inch of snow was on the ground Tuesday. More is to come and although the temperature probably will moderate slightly it is not probable that it will rise above freezing and cause the snow to turn into rain. By Wednesday evening colder weather will set in and Christmas even should be cold—and "white," with plenty of snow on the ground for Santa's annual visit by sleighs and reindeer.

Deputy Sheriff Dave Braden was a visitor in Indianapolis, Tuesday.

CITY COUNCIL WILL HAVE A BUSY SESSION

SELECTION OF SOME ONE TO FILL THE MAYOR'S "SHOES" DURING HIS ABSENCE ONE QUESTION TO BE UP FOR ACTION

The Greencastle City Council will meet in its final session of the year in the city hall this evening. It probably will be one of the busiest sessions of the year for the Mayor and council members.

Tonight's meeting will be the last in which Mayor Zeis will take part for several months. Mayor and Mrs. Zeis will leave Saturday noon for a vacation trip in California and other western points.

Members of the council are candidates to fill the temporary vacancy created by the absence of Mr. Zeis. Although it is said that members of the council may alternate at holding down the Mayor's job, it is probable that one member will be selected to serve permanently during the Mayor's absence. According to several members of the council, U. V. O'Daniel is the general choice for the temporary job of mayor.

Additional territory is to be annexed to the city at the meeting tonight it is said. Territory south of Berry street and territory on the east Washington street extension has been platted and is ready for annexation to Greencastle. Northwood will be legally taken into the city at the council meeting this evening.

A number of important appropriation ordinances will also be made at the final session of the year.

The airplane came from the east and after an hour of circling over the big plant, made a bee line for Indianapolis.

MAYOR ZEIS TO RUN AGAIN; 3 IN THE RACE

CANDIDATE FOR REPUBLICAN NOMINATION FOR MAYOR ARE BUILDING FENCES—MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT ON EVE OF DEPARTURE FOR THE WEST

Just on the eve of his departure for California, where he will spend the winter, Mayor Charles Zeis, has tossed his bonnet into the Mayoralty ring, announcing that he probably will be a candidate for re-election at the coming election.

With Mayor Zeis again shying at the big boss job, there now are three avowed candidates. Mrs. R. A. Ogg, prominent Greencastle club woman, and known throughout the state as a farmers institute speaker, is being groomed for the race by her friends.

The third who has announced his intentions is Virgil Grimes, local electrician. Grimes is an avowed candidate and says he will give them all a hot race before the thing is over.

FARM ACCOUNT BOOKS ARE PROVING POPULAR

Judging from the rush of inquiries for farm record books received by the Farm Management Division of the Extension Department, Purdue University, Indiana farmers recognize more than ever before the importance of keeping simple accounts that will enable them to study the farm business and make it more efficient. In addition to the many requests from individual farmers for books numerous banks are writing in to get a supply of books to furnish their farm patrons.

According to figures just summarized by the Extension Department over 80,000 of the record books have been placed with farmers for use since the book was first prepared in 1917. Unfortunately the farmers interest in record keeping seems to vary somewhat in harmony with the prices he is receiving for his products. During the past few years when farming conditions were very unfavorable there was a tendency on the part of many farmers to neglect these accounts. Those who kept them found out, however, that in adverse times it is really more important that records are kept and used than when conditions are so favorable that the greatest efficiency is not necessary for making money. Numerous examples have been found, through the record books, of Indiana farmers, who have been making money each of the adverse years just passed. These men have appreciated the importance of their accounts in pointing out weaknesses in their farming operations. With the stage apparently set for an improvement in the farming situation and with the better understanding of the importance of farm accounts it is possible that the demand for a simple bookkeeping form will show a big increase.

The account book put out by Purdue University is based on the experience of many farmers who have kept records in various ways. It is very easy to keep. When summarized at the end of the year it shows the income for the year, distribution of the receipts and expenses, the capital invested and the pay the farmer receives for his own labor. It also gives him the basis for figuring many points about his business for comparison with a good standard given in the book and thus enables him to determine the strong and weak places in his business. January 1 is a good time to start the book. Copies may be obtained at cost (15c) from county agricultural agents of the Extension Department, of Purdue University and many banks have the books for distribution.

NEW CENSUS SHOWS SMALL INCREASE IN POPULATION

ALTHOUGH FIGURED BY BOY SCOUTS IN RECENT CANVAS HAVE NOT BEEN RE-CHECKED UNOFFICIAL TABULATION SHOWS CITY PROPER HAS 4,000—DOES NOT INCLUDE TERRITORY NOT ANNEXED

Although the census figures resulting from the census taken by the Greencastle Boy Scouts, have not been re-checked or officially tabulated, unofficial tabulation puts the population of Greencastle at approximately 4,000.

Official tabulation and rechecking will not be done until after the holidays. These figures do not include any of the residential districts which adjoin the city, which are not inside the corporation limits. Nor do they include any of the DePauw University student population.

It is estimated that at least 2,000 persons live in the territory immediately adjacent to the city boundary lines. Much of this territory probably will be annexed to the city in the next few years. Steps to annex much of this property already are under way.

TRI KAPPA TO SPREAD CHEER IN THIS CITY

ORGANIZATION WILL PLAY SANTA CLAUS TO FAMILIES IN NEED—CLOTHING AND FOOD TO BE DISTRIBUTED—SEVERAL GIFTS TO ORGANIZATION

Mrs. Charles Barnaby, with a gift of $25; Prof. W. V. Brown with a gift of $10 and Prof. J. P. Naylor with a gift of $5 have materially added to the Christmas cheer fund. The Masonic lodge has also agreed to cooperate in the work by giving $15.

The young women plan to give baskets of food and clothing to the needy. Many cases of destitution have been found and gifts of bed clothing or clothes, left at the city library basement will be judiciously placed by the young women.

GROCER BEATEN AND THEN ROBBED BY THREE THUGS

WILLIAM ANDERSON, LEFT LYING UNCONSCIOUS ON FLOOR OF HIS STORE, ON NORTH ANDERSON STREET MONDAY NIGHT—REGAINS CONSCIOUSNESS THREE HOURS LATER—HOLDUP MEN GET $100

William Anderson, 48, Greencastle grocer, suffered serious injuries about the head and was robbed of $100, as the result of an attack by three hold-up men at his store on north Indiana street, at near 7 o'clock Monday evening.

He lay unconscious for three hours following the attack before he recovered sufficiently to stagger to his home, a block west of the store and spread the alarm. Anderson was unable to give an accurate description of the bandits.

Mr. Anderson had gone to the store at near 7 o'clock Monday evening to get a cigar. Shortly after he opened the store three white men walked in. Thinking the men customers, Mr. Anderson stepped from behind the counter. Suddenly two of the men grabbed him, while the other, wielding a short blunt instrument of some nature, beat him into insensibility. His head is cut and bruised and several severe gashes cut in the scalp. He was also seriously bruised about the shoulders and upper part of his body. The middle finger on the right hand was broken. A sum of $100, which Mr. Anderson was carrying, was taken by the men.

Anderson lay in a pool of blood on the floor of the store until near 10 o'clock, when he regained consciousness and staggered to his home. After the attack on Mr. Anderson the thieves tampered in some manner with the store lights. Police were forced to make their investigation with the aid of flashlights. Anderson had paid little attention to the men and other than to say they were all white men, was unable to describe them. The men evidently left in a hurry after the attack as so far as was learned, nothing else was taken. A rear side door of the store was left open by the thieves in their flight.

Anderson remained in a critical condition Tuesday. Physicians were required to take twenty-six stitches in the larger gashes, cut in Anderson's head. Anderson also suffered many smaller cuts, besides a broken finger and severe bruises.

Reports vary as to the number of men that attacked Anderson. Mrs. Anderson said Tuesday morning, that according to Mr. Anderson, she understood that only three men attacked him. Police however understood that there were four men in the hold-up party. The first report was that $180 had been taken by the robbers, but Mrs. Anderson said Tuesday that the amount was near $100. Nothing about the store was disturbed.

Police who searched the store for clues and combed the city following the report of the hold-up, were unable to get a trace of the bandits. Officers are of the opinion however, that the hold-up was done either by local talent or amateur holdup men, on account of the unnecessary beating that was given Mr. Anderson. Although Anderson could not state definitely, he thought the men were unmasked.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

It is hard for the busy mother, who has everything to do, to find time to vary her cookery by garnishing or variety in combinations when expense is one of the all-important items, which it is in most households.

Some time when the children are clamoring for cinnamon rolls try making them with a baking powder biscuit dough, rich enough to be wholesome and digestible. Roll out, spread with butter and sprinkle thickly with cinnamon, brown sugar and raisins or currants. Roll up and cut into half-inch biscuits by slicing with a sharp knife. Bake in a hot oven and serve hot.

When making bread or rolls, the sponge used for cinnamon rolls makes a more palatable roll.

Turkish Rolls.—Work one-fourth of a cupful of almond paste into one cupful of boiled cooled water, add a tablespoonful of butter, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one cake of compressed yeast, softened in one-fourth of a cupful of lukewarm water, and add three or four cupfuls of flour. Mix all together and knead to a soft dough. Let stand in a warm place to double its bulk. Shape into rolls. When light, brush over with milk and bake in a hot oven.

Cup Cakes.—Take one-third cupful of shortening, add one cupful of sugar, creaming the mixture well. Add two eggs well beaten, one and two-thirds cupfuls of pastry flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder; alternate the flour with one-half cupful of milk, beating the batter well. Bake in gem pans and frost with:

Seven-Minute Frosting.—Put one egg white, unbeaten, seven-eighths of a cupful of sugar, three tablespoonfuls of water over rapidly boiling water. Begin to beat immediately with a Dover egg beater and beat constantly for seven minutes. Remove from the heat, add a teaspoonful of vanilla and twelve marshmallows cut into small pieces. Beat until the marshmallows are dissolved, then spread on the cakes.

folks by Santa Claus from a large Christmas tree.

Prospects for a white Christmas in Greencastle was most favorable Tuesday morning, as the result of a snowfall of 1.65 inches during the night. The weatherman however is threatening to spoil the snow, when he predicted rain for Tuesday night and Wednesday, following a predicted fall in temperature. The minimum temperature Monday night was 14 degrees above zero, according to the reading of the government weather thermometer in charge of local weatherman John Goddard. The maximum temperature reached Monday was 25 degrees above zero. A temperature which will probably rise above the freezing point is forecast.

Mrs. R. M. Smith of Rochester, N. Y. will arrive in this city Wednesday to spend Christmas with her mother, Mrs. R. A. Lawton and family and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Shamel and family.

AUTOS TRAPPED IN ICE BLOCKING ROAD

BRAZIL, Ind., Dec. 22.—State road No. 9 is blockaded with ice for two and a quarter miles between the Ellettsville bottoms between Brazil and Clay City and it may be weeks before the road can be used. The heavy rains of last week put the river out of its banks and state road No. 9 was covered to a depth of one to three feet.

The recent zero weather froze the flood water in the bottom and a great sheet of ice ranging from four to six inches in thickness hangs over the entire bottoms. Several automobiles which attempted to cross the ice yesterday broke through and are stalled. Machines which went to their rescue also became stalled and it will be impossible to get the cars out until the ice melts. Should the ice go off with a rain and thaw it is feared the huge mass of ice will carry away the bridges. The Feeder Dam bridge on state road No. 9 is in an especially dangerous position. Mail service from Brazil to Poland, Bowling Green and other towns on the south side of the river has been suspended since last Friday.

EXPERT DISCOVERS PYORRHEA CAUSE

Bad Teeth Laid to Faults in Nutrition.

Paris.—The cause and cure of pyorrhea, mouth scourge, have been discovered by an American dentist working in French laboratories.

He is Dr. Charles R. Hamby of San Francisco and Los Angeles, one of the organizers of the E. R. Parker System of Dentistry and author of numerous works covering all phases of dental art.

Doctor Hamby asserts that the modern theory that many bodily ills are caused by bad teeth must give place to the real fact, which is that bad teeth, and especially pyorrhea, are the result of faults in nutrition.

This established, Doctor Hamby asserts that he has ample proof that correction of these faults in nutrition will cure pyorrhea and many other diseases to which teeth and gums are heirs.

Considering the recent estimate that four out of five persons above the age of forty suffer from pyorrhea, the inevitable end of which is loss of teeth, the importance of Doctor Hamby's discovery has been emphasized by French authorities who have been following his experiments.

"Get rid of excess lime and you get rid of pyorrhea," stated Doctor Hamby.

The Pacific coast expert said that, to eliminate excess lime, he recommended "a can of tomatoes every day, lots of tomato ketchup, plenty of cranberries, and all sour fruits in season."

For the benefit of lay readers Doctor Hamby prepared the following "brief" of the pyorrhea case:

A—Pus flow.
B—Infamed, puffy gums, loose teeth.
C—Result, lost teeth.
D—Diagnosis Pyorrhea (Pyos—pus, Rhen—flow).

Cause: Lime formation; mechanical irritation.
Chemical aspect: Encrusted peridental membrane, covering tooth roots.
Treatment: Dissolve the lime, inhibit formation.

How: Acid treatment dissolves lime. Acid foods, therefore, are necessary. Cranberries, canned tomatoes, using all the juice, sour fruits, tomato catsup.

No alcohol or stimulants or loes, which dilute the acid.
Laxatives and cathartics until complete intestinal cleaning. Enemas three times per week.

Induce active perspiration. Eat less bread, cereals, milk—all lime contain-ers.

Merging Their Interests

"ALL aboard," shouted the conductor as the "Florida Limited" stood ready to leave New York.

"Hey, there, hold that train a second," yelled an excited but handsome man as he came trudging along the platform with six small children.

John Chapman had just finished landing the two-year-old twins, when the conductor called out: "Hurry up there, we've got to pull out. Here, porter, give him a lift with his excess baggage."

By the time the train had reached Philadelphia Chapman was actually dozing off to sleep. His nap, however, was soon interrupted, when a jolly prosperous looking business man greeted him with a healthy and vigorous slap on the shoulder.

"Why, hello, Chapman! What are you doing here? It's been years and years since I saw you last. What are all these children?"

Fifteen years before Chapman had roomed with Henry Smyser. He had joined the same fraternity at Ringer college, had played football with him, and had wooed the same girl.

"What's wrong with you, Chapman?" asked Smyser.

"I lost my wife about two years ago, but before I start, let me ask you a serious question. Are you married and have you any encumbrances?"

"No, I didn't marry that college widow we were both so daft about; she's still frisking around roping in the freshmen. There isn't any progeny to perpetuate my glorious name. But I want to hear how the world has been mistreating you."

As Chapman began to reply his twins started bawling. With a look of despair he opened a large suitcase, the interior of which looked partly like a drug store and a great deal more like a nursery, brought out a big, free-for-all milk bottle and after having abated the children's clamor, the father gave a long sigh, then with tears in his eyes began again: "Smyser, I don't know how to begin to tell you all I've been through since my wife died and left me all these six children on my hands."

Smyser meditated for several moments. Here was a chance to get revenge for that joke Chapman had played on him the night of the graduation dance. Never had he forgotten the time Chapman had poured tabasco sauce into his dancing pumps.

"Why don't you get a good nurse?" he ventured casually.

"Oh, tell me something new! Haven't I had hundreds of nurses already and they always leave me in the lurch?"

"That being the case," interrupted Smyser in a tone of profound wisdom, "then I have a better idea. What you need is a good wife—one that is highly domestic."

"That's not very encouraging, for no woman in her senses will have me."

"Old man," began Smyser gravely, "you are too quick to throw up the sponge. Right now I know a charming young widow at Palm Beach, and I'm sure you two would harmonize. I'd go in for her myself, but she adores tall men, and will not look at short men like myself. We'll have to sidetrack the kids till you've landed her. I'll keep them for you in some nearby town. Is it a go?"

Chapman was "game."

When they reached the famous resort Smyser played his part as a matchmaker admirably. Seldom in the varied history of knot-tying had a couple been so irresistibly drawn together. They decided to get married and leave at once for her native home in Georgia.

Smyser had consented to go on ahead and gather up Chapman's children, who had been interned at Jacksonville during the diplomatic negotiations, and take them with him to Atlanta, so that the bride would not hear of their existence till she reached her home town.

Two days later Chapman and his pretty bride were on their way to Georgia.

On alighting at Atlanta they had taken but a few steps when Smyser walked up with all of the waiting brood.

"Oh, papa, is this our lovely new mamma you said was so beautiful?" called out Chapman's eldest.

Mrs. Chapman simply beamed and looked surprised, then ran to meet an excited old black mammy, who came holding toward her with six other children swarming around her.

"Hoody, Miss Jenny! Ise sho glad ter see yo'; I done bring all yo' childrens to show 'em to their new daddy."

Before the grinning nurse could say more, the children were hugging their mother. Then spying their newly acquired father, one of the oldest girls called out: "Is this our papa? He is mighty handsome, just as you wrote."

To his intense delight, his bride leaned down and kissed each one of his little darlings. Never had they seemed so entirely angelic as now. She exclaimed cheerily: "Oh, how I shall love them because they are yours. We've both had such a surprise! They won't be one bit more trouble, for mammy will take perfect care of them as she does of mine, and we'll go right on and finish our wedding tour, won't we, John, dear?"

No one even thought of poor dis-comfited Smyser. He crawled off to a far corner, and as he watched the happy couple getting in the pullman he muttered to himself: "Well, if that wasn't a regular boomerang. I'll know myself if I ever try again to get even with John Chapman!"

Bad Girls Given Trip in Reform Program

London.—The English reformers' idea of making bad girls better is to give them trips to the seaside.

Accordingly, last year several of the detention institutions for young girls took parties of inmates to various seaside resorts, where they were given a two-weeks' vacation with only the supervision of two matrons to each party of twenty-five girls.

Last year's outings proved so successful that nearly all similar institutions this year took up the idea and permitted their best-behaved girls to have a vacation.

The expenses for the trip, above what it would have cost to feed and provide for the girls at the institution, were donated by persons interested in progressive methods in the correctional institutions of the country.

Woman Cop Downs Rowdy With Her Fist

Boston.—When Thomas J. O'Brien struck at Mrs. Margaret McHugh, one of Boston's police-women, she did not pull her club on him. Instead she moved aside to avoid the blow, then stepped in and with a right-hand swing sent him sprawling to the street, opening his left cheek.

At the police station a physician's services were necessary for O'Brien.

P. T. A. CHRISTMAS TREE ON FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Old Santa Claus with a well filled sack visited the Cloverdale student body and Parent Teachers Association at the school house last Friday afternoon.

The Parent Teachers had made all preparations for him, having placed and beautifully trimmed a Christmas tree and arranged an interesting program. Program started with primary class and continued through the school to the senior high school class, each class giving recitations, carol singing or short plays. Old Santa then made his appearance and greeted those present and was in turn "up-roariously" greeted, especially by the primary department. He carried a full sack, every student and visitor receiving an orange and Hershey bar, besides the many other presents that were on the tree.

The affair was planned and financed by the Parent-Teachers Association. The program was furnished by the school and directed by the teachers.

American Girl Plans Merry Xmas for 8,000

ELLA JANE HARDCASTLE

The Near East Relief in Syria and Palestine has placed Miss Hardcastle, a Cleveland girl, in charge of the Christmas plans for 8,000 orphan children in twenty large orphanages in Palestine and Syria. Each orphanage will have a very simple Christmas dinner, followed by a program of carol-singing and such other entertainment as the children can furnish for themselves. Three thousand toys from America will be distributed from the orphanage Christmas trees.

Directs Relief Work For Christmas Lands

EDWARD M. BLATCHFORD

Thousands of American tourists and pilgrims who have visited Palestine and Syria have had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Blatchford, who is the director of the Near East Relief's orphanage work in Jerusalem, Bethlehem and Nazareth. He is a native of Chicago, and is a successful business man who retired from commercial life to give his services to the improvement of conditions in Bible lands.

WORLD'S LARGEST CHILD CHOIR

ALEXANDROPOL, Armenia.—The largest children's chorus in the world will be heard here on Christmas Eve when orphan voices selected from the 15,000 boys and girls in the Near East Relief orphanages will serenade American relief workers with ancient Armenian melodies.

NO FESTIVE XMAS FOR BIBLE LANDS

Hunger and Want Are Holiday Companions for Thousands of Refugees.

According to cablegrams reaching the state committee of Near East Relief, Christmas in the Holy Lands finds more widespread suffering and want than at any time since the days of Christ. There are a million and a half refugees in Palestine, Syria and Greece. The hand of America is holding out comfort and succor to 50,000 orphan children throughout the wintry Christmas country, but there are at least another 100,000 orphans in the refugee camps for whom there is no money to provide even the most elementary aid.

"Even here in Jerusalem," says a letter from Edward M. Blatchford, the American relief director in Palestine, "the followers of the Man of Bethlehem fear there is little peace on earth and good will toward men. Grim realization has come that the recent expulsion of Christians from their native lands by their ancient enemies, the Moslems, is unparalleled in history."

Meanwhile the national organization of the Near East Relief faces the beginning of the new year with a deficit, which must be met before any new work among the needy children of the old world can be undertaken. "It is imperative that our budget shall be met," says a statement from the state chairman. "We have pared down the allotment from this state to the minimum limits of the program, and any failure on our part will mean serious suffering for the children in our orphanages."

It is hoped that those contemplating contributions will send them promptly to the state headquarters as the annual report to Congress is made up on a basis of the receipts to December 31, and it is desired by that date to meet the existing deficit and face the new year with a clean slate, both here and abroad.

WHERE XMAS TREES ARE NOVEL

ATHENS, Greece.—To find that Christmas is not celebrated with a Christmas tree in Bible Lands is often a great surprise to American tourists, who have become so accustomed to associating a gayly decorated tree with Christmas that they forget this custom originated in Germany. Good pine trees are very scarce in this part of the world, and several of the American Near East Relief orphanages will, this year use wild orange trees for their Christmas celebrations. The yellow fruit forms a charming natural decoration.

CHILD PILGRIMS TO BETHLEHEM

JERUSALEM.—Christmas day in Bethlehem will be marked again this year by a pilgrimage of children to the little Church of the Nativity. Five hundred Armenian boys and girls from the American Near East Relief orphanages in Jerusalem will march to Bethlehem with gifts made by them in their industrial school, which they will place in the grotto where tradition says Christ was born.

CHRISTMAS FOR 5,000 REFUGEES

CONSTANTINOPLE.—The American colony in this city has arranged to provide Christmas dinners for five thousand refugees still remaining in camps here. The observance will be under the direction of the American High Commissioner, Admiral Mark Bristol, who is chairman of the local Near East Relief Committee.

PRIZE HEN LAYS TWO

EGGS IN ONE DAY

A pure-bred white leghorn hen, property of Fred B. Clearwaters, proprietor of the Cloverdale poultry farm, has proven herself a distant relative of the hen who laid the golden egg by laying two eggs a day. She did not confine her exhibition of egg production to one event, but repeat it about every ten or twelve days.

Early this fall Mr. Clearwaters recognized this hen as an unusual egg producer. He penned her, numbered her and arranged a trap nest so that there could be no error in recording her egg production. In the 22 days this month she has laid 24 eggs, laying one egg every day and on two occasions laying two—one in the morning and one in the afternoon. All of the laying houses are equipped with daylight electric lights which are turned on early and gives the layers an opportunity to be "up and laying" as soon as they would be in the summer months. One thousand hens are being wintered at the poultry farm. Of these there are 150 old hens which are not laying. From the remaining 350 pullets Mr. Clearwaters averages nearly 50 dozen eggs daily.
